

Kindergarten Interview: 10 Dos & Don'ts

1. Know the basic politeness, for example: take the initiative to say "Morning!" "Hello!" to the principal or teacher. When you receive a small gift, your kid should know how to say "thank you" , and"goodbye" or "Bye Bye" after the interview.
2. Keep a smile on your face during the interview.
3. Make eye contact with the teacher.
4. Sit or stand straight, maintain a good posture.
5. The clothes are comfortable and suitable, and the appearance is neat and clean.
6. Efforts to answer the teacher's questions. It doesn't matter if you can answer correctly, what's more important is to show your willingness to try to answer.
7. Obey the teacher's instructions, such as singing, dancing, and completing simple movements.
8. Parents should also be polite.
9. Parents should be aware of the school's philosophy and background.
10. Parents should understand their children's living habits, which represents the parents' daily commitment to the care of children.

1. Refuse to sit down, walk around, or even yell.
2. Grab other children's toys and even hit people.
3. Ignoring or unresponsive to the teacher's questions.
4. Look around during the interview and don't focus.
5. Many small movements, such as playing fingers, sucking fingers, scratching the head, hands on cheek and so on.
6. Bad sitting posture, such as not sit up straight, swinging one's body and so on.
7. Recited answers.
8. Parents rush to answer for their children.
9. Parents are constantly urging their children to answer questions.
10. Parents scold their children in public.
